

I don't know what this part looks like. I'm only assuming it is a screw that holds some kind of "locking bar" in place to keep the damper from shifting.